Domains and Performance Levels:
Programs were rated according to seven domains: 1) Vision for Learning, 2) Family & Community Relationships, 3) School Safety, 4) Positive Environment, 5) High Quality Instruction, 6) Talent Development and 7) Data. The domains are aligned to the School District’s evidence-based High Performing School Practices and the Essential Features of Alternative Education Programs, as well as the Pennsylvania Department of Education’s Leadership Framework. Each domain includes three to seven components that are rated according to three performance levels: 1) Failing, 2) Needs Improvement, and 3) Proficient. Failing indicates that a program could not demonstrate or did not develop practices identified within a domain component. Needs Improvement indicates that a program has made some progress or effort towards practices identified within a domain component, but has not sufficiently developed the practice. Proficient indicates that a program has made adequate progress towards the implementation of practices identified within a domain component.

SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

Vision for Learning

Rating: PROFICIENT [4 of 5 components met]

Strategy for literacy and numeracy skill-building (Yes). Liguori Academy Fortis administers the Measures of Academic Progress (MAP) assessment to students at the beginning of the school year and when new students enroll. MAP scores are used to determine students’ reading and mathematics skill levels. Students with very low skill levels are rostered for a computer-based remediation class. The MAP assessment directly aligns with the program’s blended learning platform, Edgenuity, and helps program staff to determine the correct course level each student should take. Program staff meet weekly to discuss the progress of individual students. On a daily basis, staff monitors the progress of students in Edgenuity classes. The program monitors student progress using data reports and dashboards from Edgenuity, and they use this information to gauge student progress and to apply different interventions as needed. Retention plan implementation (Yes). Liguori Academy Fortis staff emphasized consistent and frequent communication with students and their families as their main strategy for retention. Program staff are dedicated to establishing a good rapport with students so that they feel physically and emotionally safe within the learning community. The program reaches out to parents at least once per week to provide positive phone calls about their children’s progress. Each Liguori Academy Fortis teacher has a group of students that they get to know very well through advisory. In that way, teachers are able to have individual conversations with students to learn more about their strengths and challenges. Orientation for new students (Yes). Liguori Academy Fortis holds orientation for new students on Wednesday afternoons. Students and their parents meet the program’s administrators and teachers, and learn about expectations for attendance, behavior, and academics. Students and their parents receive the program’s student handbook, and they also receive an introduction to the Edgenuity blended learning platform. Students sign off on the program’s acceptable use of technology form and receive their logins to access Edgenuity. Group orientation provides new students with a cohort of peers that they are familiar with on their first day of class. Family engagement plan (Yes). Liguori Academy Fortis’ plan to engage families begins with orientation for new students. Parents attend orientation with their children and are introduced to the program’s mission, policy, and procedures. Liguori Academy Fortis invites parents to open house events that include program updates, food, and the opportunity for parents to talk with staff and provide any feedback. Liguori Academy Fortis staff reaches out to each student’s parent at least once per week in order to provide positive phone calls about their child’s progress. In addition, parents are contacted any time that a student is absent from the program. Individual graduation plans (No). Liguori Academy Fortis presented sample individual graduation plans for a group of students. There are four sections in the program’s individual graduation plans: general information, intake process, postsecondary goals, and transition plan. None of the plans reviewed were complete and all lacked transition plans and postsecondary goals. Individual graduation plans also include a credit review and mapping of courses for each student. However, course maps were incomplete and did not provide projected graduation dates.

Liguori Academy Fortis is currently relying on standard reports generated from the MAP assessment and Edgenuity dashboards to gauge student performance at an individual level. The program’s leadership plans to create their own reports moving forward in order to actively track program-wide academic progress, trends in daily attendance, postsecondary outcomes, and gains in reading and mathematics. Program improvement plans and related data reports (No). Liguori Academy Fortis’ strategic plan is currently mission-based and includes high-level, qualitative goals that the program developed this past summer. Program administrators will work to create a more quantifiable strategic plan as they begin collecting additional program-wide data. Formative and summative assessments (No). Teachers leverage Edgenuity quizzes and short assignments to track student progress in each course. Teachers also rely on Edgenuity summative assessments at the end of each unit. Program leadership noted that students sometimes struggle to complete these exams individually, and as a result, the exams will be taken as a class. The review team recommended that teachers administer other summative assessments outside of Edgenuity in order to more effectively check for understanding. Each student must demonstrate mastery of course content. In addition, hand-written notes are currently optional for students in Edgenuity classes and should be mandatory moving forward.
