

Grow as a community leader with a full undergraduate scholarship

Strayer University is proud to announce the Fellows for Justice Program to help students build talent and leadership skills they can use to solve the problems we face in our society today.

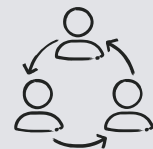

Recent high school (or equivalent) graduates are encouraged to apply.

Successful applicants will receive a full scholarship for a Strayer University undergraduate degree in one of these areas: accounting, business administration, criminal justice or information technology.

Selection criteria include previous work or interest in improving social justice disparities in the applicant's community.

Scholarship recipients will join others in this program to share their experiences, discuss current social and economic issues and create positive action through professional development.

DETAILS

This program offers full-tuition scholarships for Strayer University undergraduate programs in accounting, business administration, criminal justice or information technology.

Students in the program will:

- Receive invitations to networking events with Strayer University leadership, community leaders and other members of the Fellows for Justice Program
- Collaborate with other awardees on a project to address aspects of social justice, in partnership with a community-based organization
- Have access to professional coaching and development opportunities and peer-to-peer engagement

Eligibility requirements:

- Meet all Strayer University admission requirements
- Live in or around one of the following metropolitan areas:
 - Atlanta, GA
 - Charlotte, NC
 - Minneapolis/St. Paul, MN
 - Philadelphia, PA
 - DMV (Washington D.C., Maryland, Virginia)
- Be a high school graduate or equivalent
- Be a first-time bachelor's degree students
- Be available to start the program summer quarter, 2021

CONTACT

Contact an admissions officer at FellowsForJustice@strayer.edu.

Find more information here.

