Background:

The CSPR is a multi-year, collaborative review of the School District of Philadelphia's school enrollment, facility usage and educational program offerings, to help us better meet the needs of our communities and set our children up for success well into the future.

Come hear what local school and parent representatives in your planning committees have discussed to date, from understanding issues to identifying potential solutions. We want to hear your thoughts and feedback on possible options we've created in collaboration with your school representatives.
