Mission & Approach to Learning:

The mission of South Philadelphia High School is to create a Community School in which our students are supported through academics, Career and Technical Education (CTE) Programs, athletic program, clubs, and outside providers to successfully graduate from high school. Our students will master academic skills and earn vocational certificates which will enable them to pursue post-secondary education, employment, or military careers. Our ultimate goal is to graduate productive and engaged citizens who contribute in a positive way to society.

Our comprehensive approved CTE Programs—Graphic Design, Computer Supports Systems Technology, Culinary Arts, Engineering Technologies, and Health Related Technologies—emphasize employability, technological skills, and transition-to-work services.

Our award-winning JROTC program prepares our students for military careers through self-discipline and leadership training. Our athletic program promotes teamwork and the health and wellbeing of our students. Clubs and electives promote cultural awareness.

Our academic instruction is driven by current research and the changing paradigm of education. Graduates of South Philadelphia High School will enter the world as competitive, productive, and well-rounded citizens.

Points of Pride:

- Diversity—We have over 23 different languages spoken in our school
- National Honor Society – One of the first 10 chapters in the United States
- U.S. Army J.R.O.T.C.
- Teen Court
- Restorative Practices
- Music (Vocal & Instrumental) Program

Southern Technical Center at South Philadelphia HS: Southern Tech's mission is to provide students with a blend of strong Academic and Career & Technical competencies necessary for future success in high tech industries. Southern Tech will emphasize literacy, mathematics, scientific, and technical proficiencies. All of our eight Career & Technical Programs offer a college and career path readiness. Students enrolled in CTE Programs are taught by the same teacher for three years. This permits the teacher to become a mentor and supporter for each of the students in the CTE classes. Students can earn Industry Certifications and Credentials and qualify for college credits. CTE students participate in career-related activities, internships, and work experience. CTE students obtain leadership, public speaking, and career planning skills. Most importantly, CTE students have higher graduation rate, attendance, and college going rates than the School District citywide averages.
