Legend:

Citywide School (CW): schools within the Philadelphia School District that do not have an attendance boundary and can accept students from any part of Philadelphia. Admission to a citywide school is based on the submission of an application and the outcome of computerized lottery. Admittance in these schools are also subject to space availability.

Special Admission School (SA): schools within the Philadelphia School District that do not have an attendance boundary and can accept students from any part of Philadelphia. Special admission schools are magnet programs that require an application as well as students meeting established criteria in order to gain admittance. Admittance in these schools are also subject to space availability.
